EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Eric P. Halber on 21 December 2005.

The application has been amended as follows:

In the Claims:

➤ amend Claim 8, as follows:

8. (currently amended) A method comprising:

receiving data pertaining to a user request for content; _____ _____determining that the requested content cannot be displayed in a browser window using a single page; and generating code which, when executed, causes a display of the requested content to be divided into a plurality of frames displaying corresponding portions of the requested content in the browser window, the plurality of frames appearing to a user as a single page containing the requested content[[:]];.

wherein determining that the requested content cannot be displayed in the browser window includes[[:]]; calculating the number of formatting elements needed for display of the requested content in the browser window using a single page; and determining that the calculated number of formatting elements exceeds a predefined threshold.

➤ amend Claim 21, as follows:

21. (currently amended) An apparatus comprising:

a user request processor to receive data pertaining to a user request for content and to determine that the requested content cannot be displayed in a browser window using a single page; and a code generator to generate code which, when executed, causes a display of the requested content to be divided into a plurality of frames displaying corresponding portions of the requested content in the browser window, the plurality of frames appearing to a user as a single page containing the requested content[[:]], _____ wherein the user request processor is to determine that the requested content cannot be displayed in the browser window by calculating the number of formatting elements needed for display of the requested content in the browser window using a single page[[:]] and determining that the calculated number of formatting elements exceeds a predefined threshold.

➤ amend Claim 27, as follows:

27. (currently amended) A system comprising:

~~a client computer to receive a user request for content, calculating the number of formatting elements needed to display the requested content in a browser window using a single page and determining that the calculated number of formatting elements exceed a predefined threshold such that the requested content cannot be displayed in the browser window of the client computer; and~~

a server, coupled to the client computer over a network, to calculate the number of formatting elements needed to display the requested content in a browser window using a single page, to determine that the calculated number of formatting elements exceed a predefined threshold such that the requested content cannot be displayed in the browser window of the client computer, to generate a markup language document according to the user request for content, wherein the generated markup language document causes a display of the requested content to be divided into a plurality of frames with invisible borders which display corresponding portions of the requested content in the browser window, and to send the markup language document to the client computer for display, the markup language document being displayed in the browser window as a single page.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-13 and 15-28 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claims 8, 21, 26, 27 and 28:

The reasons for allowance of Claim 26 was previously set forth in the Office Action dated 30 June 2005.

The reasons for allowance for Claims 8 and 21 correspond to the reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter previously set forth in the Office Action dated 30 June 2005.

The reasons for allowance of Claims 27 and 28 correspond to the reasons for allowance for Claims 8, 21 and 26.

Claims 2-7, 9-13, 15-20 and 22-25:

These claims are dependent upon Claims 8 and 21 and are thus allowable.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
